Dialupass v2.43 - Dialup/RAS/VPN Password Recovery

Copyright (c) 2001 - 2004 Nir Sofer

Description

When you use the "Dial-Up Networking" module for connecting to the internet or to other networks, the operating system give you the option to store the password and use it when it needed. Although the password is constantly stored in your computer, the operating system doesn't allow you to watch it. if you forget your password and you want to extract it from your computer, you can use the Dialupass utility for viewing the password.

This utility enumerates all Dial-Up entries on your computer and reveals their logon details: User Name, Password and Domain. it works perfectly in the following operating systems: Windows 95, Windows 98, Windows ME, Windows NT, Windows 2000, and Windows XP. In Windows 2000 and Windows XP, the Dialupass utility can reveal the Dial-Up passwords only if you are logged on with administrator privileges.

Known Problems

False Alert Problems: Some Antivirus programs detect Dialupass utility as infected with Trojan/Virus.

Known Limitations

- Windows 2000 and Windows XP: The passwords are revealed only if you log on to the computer with administrator privileges.
- In earlier versions of Windows 95, the phone number is not shown.

Using Dialupass

The Dialupass utility is a standalone application, and it doesn't require any installation process or additional DLLs. Just copy the dialupass.exe to any folder you want and run it. After you run it, it'll instantly show all your Dial-Up accounts and their user/password details.

You can also select one or more Dial-Up items (by using Ctrl and Shift keys), and then save them into a readable or tab-limited text file , or copy them into the clipboard (Ctrl+C).

the Dialupass utility also allows you to easily edit the logon details: user name, password and domain. You can get the editing dialog-box by double-clicking the item you want to edit.

Viewing the logon details of other users

Under Windows 2000/XP, you can view the logon details of other users in the same computer. Simply press Ctrl+U, and select the desired user, or select to view the passwords of all user profiles in your system. In order to view the logon details of other users under Windows NT, you should run Dialupass in advanced mode, by using the /adv option: dialupass.exe /adv

Command-Line Options

Option	Description
/stext <Filename>	Save the list of all dial-up items into a regular text file.
/stab <Filename>	Save the list of all dial-up items into a tab-delimited text file.
/stabular <Filename>	Save the list of all dial-up items into a tabular text file.
/shtml <Filename>	Save the list of all dial-up items into horizontal HTML file.
/sverhtml <Filename>	Save the list of all dial-up items into vertical HTML file.

Under Windows 2000/XP, you can save the passwords of all user profiles on your system, by using /allusers parameter.

For Exmample:

Dialupass.exe /allusers /shtml "c:\temp\dialup.html"
